CREATING JOBS AND REVITALIZING THE ECONOMY ARE MY HIGHEST PRIORITIES

Small businesses are the engine of our economy. They need access to credit in order to expand and hire more workers. I support eliminating the capital gains tax for small businesses and creating tax incentives to encourage firms to hire new workers. New costly federal regulations, or even job-killing tax increases should not be imposed upon small businesses.

Lower taxes create jobs and prosperity. Higher taxes kill jobs. For some people, more than a third of their income goes to paying federal taxes. That's wrong for America, and it hurts small businesses, which create more than 70 percent of our new jobs. On the other hand, fighting to keep taxes low, or bringing them lower, will lead to new economic growth and job creation. I am completely committed to doing everything I can to lower taxes, create jobs, and bring prosperity back to the United States.

RUNAWAY FEDERAL SPENDING MUST BE CONTROLLED

The federal government's budget is almost $4 trillion. Congress and the President need to reduce runaway spending, balance the budget and pay down the almost $14 trillion debt. This will help strengthen our economy's foundation, positioning us for new, long-term growth and job creation. Also, it will control inflation and hold down interest rates, which affect the affordability of loans for small businesses and consumers.

Congressman Rich Nugent Reports

Help Save Taxpayer Money

My name is Rich Nugent and I am your new Member of Congress for the 5th Congressional District. You sent me to Washington to cut spending and even though the House has voted to repeal Obamacare, to cut Congress' own budget, and to reduce non-defense discretionary spending by $100 billion, we have more work to do. Every penny that can be saved must be saved.

For years, elected officials have relied on mailers like this to communicate with local residents. Frankly, it's inefficient and it costs you money. If the federal government can cut spending anywhere, it must do so. With almost a million residents in the 5th District, communicating by email is one important way to do that.

Please take a moment to visit my official website (nugent.house.gov) and sign up for the 5th District e-newsletter. I need to hear from you and you certainly deserve to hear from me, but if we can save taxpayer money in the process, let's do that too.

Dear Friend:

The economy, promoting job growth, and controlling government spending are the essential issues before Congress. Last month, the nonpartisan Congressional Budget Office projected that this year's federal deficit will reach $1.5 trillion, the highest in our nation's history.

This unsustainable spending and borrowing hampers job growth and undermines our economic future. Reducing federal spending is imperative, but the President has proposed only lowering spending by $400 billion over 10 years. I have joined in offering the Spending Reduction Act to cut spending by $2.5 trillion over 10 years.

We do not have a revenue problem; we have a spending problem. I look forward to discussing these issues and others at my town meetings, and I hope that you will attend one of them on February 26, 2011.

Sincerely,

There are three district offices to serve you. Please contact one of these offices if you have any comments or questions, or if you need any help dealing with a federal agency. Trained caseworkers are available to help you.

The Economy

In meeting with business owners, bankers, employees, builders, realtors, and other concerned citizens, I keep hearing that Congress needs to hold down taxes, reduce burdensome regulations and mandates, and control the growth of federal spending.

Federal Spending

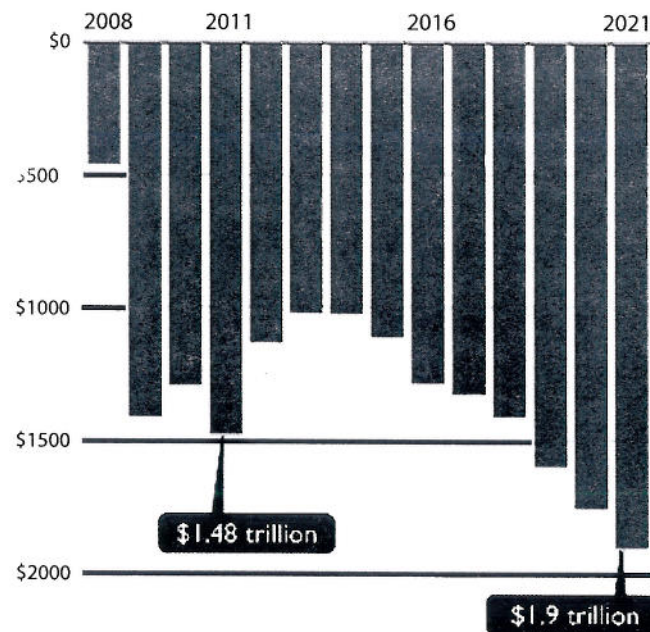

Last year, the Congressional leadership failed to even bring up a budget resolution to establish a blueprint for federal spending. The nonpartisan Congressional Budget Office (CBO) reports that this year the nation will run a budget deficit of $1.5 trillion after running a budget deficit of $1.3 trillion in the previous year.

Our national debt now exceeds $14 trillion and is growing. For the years 2012-21, the CBO projects total deficits of $7 trillion. Although the President proposes a limited budget freeze that would save $400 billion over 10 years, I support the Spending Reduction Act, which would save $2.5 trillion over 10 years. It would hold non-defense discretionary spending to 2008 levels and eliminate automatic increases in future discretionary appropriations. It also would reduce the civilian federal workforce by 15% and end automatic pay increases for federal civilian employees for five years. It also would repeal all remaining stimulus spending and includes over 100 project eliminations or budget savings in federal programs, such as dramatically reducing funding for the U.S. Department of Energy and the National Endowment for the Arts.

The Nation Needs Your Help

Report Burdensome Regulations

The American people are the real experts on regulations, they have to obey them and pay for them. I set up a section on my web site where anyone in the country can report on regulations that hurt the economy and destroy jobs.

stearns.house.gov/regulations

Oversight & Investigations Subcommittee

The American people made it clear that they want limits on the government, accountability from its agencies, and restraint in federal spending. Under the new majority in the House, I was selected to be Chairman of the Energy and Commerce Committee's Oversight and Investigations Subcommittee. The focus of this panel is on reining in excessive federal regulations, holding all federal agencies accountable to the American public, and increasing transparency in the private sector.

Another top priority is eliminating regulations that fail to serve the public interest and hamper economic development and job creation. According to a report by the Small Business Administration, the total cost of regulations is $1.75 trillion annually.

Rep. Cliff Stearns (R-FL), Chairman of the Oversight and Investigations Subcommittee, holds a hearing on the Administration's regulatory reform agenda.
